

Congratulations! You passed!

Next Item

1 / 1 point

1. Which technology is file based encryption?

- ☐ BitLocker
- ☒ Encrypting File System(EFS)

Correct

Yes. You are correct!

1 / 1 point

2. Windows cannot protect you from malicious piece of content

- ☒ True

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ False

1 / 1 point

3. Windows logs can help you understand what is happening in your environment

- ☒ True

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ False

1 / 1 point

4. Auditing systems does what?

- ☐ Checks software for bugs
- ☒ Checks objects to log all transactions on the object

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ Checks storage for memory leaks

- ☐ Checks software for compliance

1 / 1 point

5. What is layered security? Chose the most correct answer.

- ☒ Designing security to have multiple forms of protection, each layer contains another protection mechanism

Correct

Correct.

- ☐ Design security to have software run multiple tools against content to see if they are malicious

- ☐ Designing tools to prevent malicious content

1 / 1 point

6. What is not part of a layered security?

- ☐ Least privilege
- ☐ Software firewalls
- ☒ Changing passwords frequently

Correct

Correct. Changing passwords frequently is not a layered security approach

- ☐ Antivirus

1 / 1 point

7. When is file based encryption best?

- ☒ Between both computers and users

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ Between volumes

- ☐ Between computers

- ☐ Between users

1 / 1 point

8. What does a TPM do?

- ☐ Stores passwords in software
- ☐ Stores encryption keys in software
- ☒ Stores encryption keys in hardware

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ Stores passwords in hardware

0 / 1 point

9. What software can control software within Windows

- ☐ AppLocker
- ☒ AppControl

This should not be selected

Incorrect. Please review the Restricting Software lecture.

- ☐ Software Support

- ☐ Software Restrictions Manager

1 / 1 point

10. Unless a volume is encrypted, protection through a Windows password is pointless if someone has physical access to a system and tools to reset the password

- ☒ True

Correct

Correct!

- ☐ False